Not Even For Love (Brown, Sandra)

Synopsis

Jordan Hadlock seems to have it all: a great job and Helmut Eckherdt, a rich industrialist intent on marrying her -- even though she hasn't said yes. What more could she want? A clap of thunder and a pounding on her door soon give her an answer. Reeves Grant appears seeking shelter from a sudden downpour, but the real storm is inside Jordan and the passion they share. He disappears the next morning and then Jordan receives two more shocks. Helmut publicly announces they're to be wed -- at the very same moment she spies Reeves snapping pictures of her new "fiance." Now Jordan is moving toward the alter with a man she likes but doesn't love, while Reeves is often only inches away. And Jordan Hadlock has to choose between a man who wants her to be his wife and one who wants her to be his lover.

Customer Reviews

I must say, each time I read a love story by Sandra Brown, I am in just as much awe as I was with the last one. As she sat there alone in a storm, Jordan Hadlock was doing the last thing she wanted to be doing.....thinking. Why? She was happy wasn't she? She had a man who loved her or so he keeps saying but the truth was, deep down, she knew that she did not love the spoiled and rich Helmut Eckherdt. It was then that she heard pounding below on the door of the bookstore. Running down the stairs as fast as she could, it suddenly occurred to her. Who in their right mind, would be out on a night like this? Should she open the door? With the pleading on the other side of the door, her mind is made up. With a swift and unrelenting decision, she opens the door, only to see one of the most handsomest man she has ever seen. And with the look on his face, the feeling is mutual. Apologizing for his abruptness, he explains that he hasn't been in Switzerland very long and needed to get out of the rain. She invites him to come upstairs for a cup of hot tea and he responds with a yes. With the power out, Jordan keeps thinking, "I can't believe I am doing this" but the truth was Jordan was missing something in her life and she still needed to explore whatever that was. When it is time for him to go in order to find a hotel, suddenly she blurts out "why don't you stay here?" Nervously, giving him some blankets and a pillow, Jordan retires in her bedroom, thinking only of the stranger in the next room. When her door quietly opens and the stranger asks if she is afraid, she is stunned at herself when she answers no. Standing there breathless with the patter of rain, Jordan Hadlock gave and shared a wonderful and blissful night with a perfect stranger.
