If you are looking at this book you have no doubt heard of Reinhard Bonnke and the Jesus he serves. At over 600 pages you would think this is a BIG book to read but once you get going, you will read it fast. I am an incredibly slow reader but managed to polish this off in a week! When you read the stories and see how God has used one man to change the world, quite literally you are left with only 2 thoughts. Either this book is a complete fabrication (which undoubtedly some people will claim) or Jesus truly is real. The sheer amount of miracles, the number of people that gather to hear Jesus preached by the CfaN team, it is simply undeniable that Jesus isn't real. Many of the facts in this book are easily verifiable by most people and when you add them all together the sheer volume is testimony to the movement of the Holy Spirit in the world today. If this doesn't excite you as a Christian, you are probably dead already.

I attended a Reinhard Bonnke Fire Conf. back around 1993, where he laid hands on all of the 1000 or so in attendance, myself included...a memory I cherish. And recently, Jan 10', heard him speak in a live Conf. broadcast via the internet where he promoted "Living a Life of Fire". I immediately ordered it on and have been very glad that I did! Anyone who has lived by faith, trusting in the Lord Jesus and walking according to His Word through His Holy Spirit, will most certainly be able to identify with Reinhard Bonnke's personal testimony of God's continual and unfailing Faithfulness. I have been so encouraged by the contrasts of his life...to a vast majority, the work God has given Reinhard would be completely overwhelming in scope and magnitude even crushingly fatal; yet, he conducts this Int'l Evangelistic Org. with simple yet resolutely resolved childlike faith in Jesus and dedicated reliance in the still small voice of the Spirit of God. Reinhard Bonnke's ability, with this writing, to encourage, challenge and advance a person, at any age or experience level, is truly inspiring.

I couldn't put it down. 634 pages in less than two weeks and I immediately signed up for the course. I was so encouraged, excited, and inspired by the stories of salvation and healing that at seventy-one, I know that God is not finished with me yet.

Living a Life of Fire is an awesome testimony of how God works in the life of His saints. Reinhard Bonnke's story will encourage believers to take a personal look into their own walk with the Lord Jesus. His testimony begins with his childhood call from God and what a walk of listening to the Holy Spirit can be. This autobiography will bless and encourage believers to seek first the kingdom of heaven. The book is an awesome read.

Reinhard Bonnke's book is better written than I expected. (No thick German accent like when he speaks) It is a faith walk adventure. It is marvelous what God can do with the obedience of a few good men passing the torch of Holy ghost fire from one generation to the next. His story reminds me of the book "Like a Mighty Wind". Only instead of a few brief chapters, this narrative is about a growing and continuing manifestation of God's work that is decades long. It illustrates the transformation and "Last Days" urgent acceleration of the Lord's Harvest. From lonely remote missionaries gleaned a few handfuls of souls over a life time of thankless work to evangelists like Bonnke whose obedience allowed the Father to put him at the throttle of a giant combine harvester where entire nations are reaped for Christ and a million converts in a single open air event are harvested. For most of us the "still small voice" within is still too small. Bonnke shows what is possible if we listen more actively and obey promptly relying on what is in HIS pockets and not on what is in our own... (meaning not only money but talent, the words we speak and resources.) If we are faithful to use the bread and fishes we have on hand God will multiply the rest. And that is the point. It should be more than just a "good read" which leaves us with a "well that was nice... lucky for them" after taste. Life is full of "if onlys" only when we let them go. Like the book of Acts we are the next chapter. And Bonnke shows us how to accomplish mighty things in our own life. Listen. Discern. Obey and do. K.I.S.S. Tom Refshauge, Rogers, AR

This is an amazing book. (Auto)Biographies of God's servants always move me, but this book is in a category of its own. I saw Reinhard Bonnke visiting with Pat Robertson on the 700 club where they mentioned the book, and I got it right away. I'm more than half way through and don't regret the "impulse" (or Holy Spirit - lead) buy at all. I feel my spiritual temperature rising every time I open it. Reinhard Bonnke is an awesome humble servant of GOD. Gott segne Dich, Reinhard!

I can't believe I never heard of Reinhard Bonnke before this year, this guy is a true man of God. This book was so exciting, from one page to another. It has 636-pages and I wish it had double that. If you desire to read about how God is working in our world today, you have to read this book. Even if you think you don't care about Africa, this book will give you a whole new outlook and appreciation for the lost souls receiving God's free gift of salvation, Jesus Christ. I am going to read it again and again.
